AUTISM TRAINING

Our training provides people with an understanding of the needs of autistic employees and outlines how simple adjustments to workplace environments will enable them to thrive. Our belief is that everybody in the autistic community should have the same opportunities as everyone else and be accepted for their talent, skills, and attributes. Each individual's autism deserves to be recognised as a unique way of seeing the world and they should not be discriminated against or treated differently for that.

OPPORTUNITY/PROBLEM

Progressive and inclusive employers are increasingly keen to unlock the multiple benefits of a neuro-diverse workforce and to tap into new talent pools. They have a desire to create a culture of belonging and working collegiately so that everyone feels confident to be their self.

SOLUTION/BENEFIT

Our training is designed around the needs of parents and carers, health workers, employers and anyone with a desire to enrich their lives by improving their knowledge of autism. Our qualified and experienced trainers use Brain Friendly Learning techniques (proven to embed information quicker). So, participants leave feeling positive, keen and ready to apply these techniques in their own lives and work.

Giving

All our courses are designed to provide the learners with knowledge and understanding of autism by hearing first hand from autistic people and how small adjustments can empower each of them to belong and feel included. Each programme is co-produced with our autistic community and their families. Learning and listening to their experiences and how they have shaped and changed their lives, strongly influences our sessions.

Gaining

We aim to educate, encourage empathy and successfully achieve acceptance. Ensuring that flapping will be considered as acceptable as smiling, ear defenders will be a normal sight, Alternative communication devices will be common and everyone will know how to communicate with each other. Autism becomes simply another way that people are unique.

Accessing

Employers find that investing in training proves beneficial well beyond their expectations.

SUCCESS STORY

Our training has been implemented across Pan Dorset which is combination of Dorset Council, Bournemouth Christchurch and Poole council and NHS services. Within 8 months, 800 of their workforce have completed our e-learning in Understanding Autism and over 150 have attended out Autism Acceptance workshops. They have left feeling enthusiastic and with the knowledge to make a change to the support the autistic individuals they support.

They have been able to introduce different communications techniques, adapt the environment from a sensory perspective and review processes to ensure that the autistic individuals they support can learn new skills, be given new opportunities and achieve their own personal aspirations.

Each of us can make a positive difference to someone else's live, we want to make sure that people understand what autism is and can recognise the different way each autistic person experiences the world.

Autism is more than you and we are asking your workplace to commit to understanding and accepting Autism.
